ITEM 8.01 Other Events

On December 29, 2006, Eastman Kodak Company ("Kodak") and Sony Corporation, Sony Corporation of America and Sony Electronics, Inc. (referred to collectively as "Sony") entered into an agreement settling their patent infringement lawsuits against each other. In 2004, Kodak commenced a patent infringement action against Sony in the United States District Court for the Western District of New York. Sony then filed two separate infringement actions against Kodak in the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey, one of which was consolidated with Kodak's suit in the Western District of New York. Each party asserted certain of its imaging technology patents against the other. No monetary consideration was paid under the settlement agreement. Pursuant to the settlement, Kodak and Sony agreed to dismiss their respective infringement claims.

In a separate settlement agreement, entered into on December 27, 2006, Kodak agreed to dismiss its patent infringement claims against Sony Ericsson Mobile Communications AB and Sony Ericsson Mobile Communications (USA) Inc. (referred to collectively as "Sony Ericsson") which were also named as defendants in Kodak's suit against Sony in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of New York. No monetary consideration was paid under the settlement agreement.

Separately, Kodak has entered into technology cross license agreements with Sony and Sony Ericsson which are described in the press release attached to this document as Exhibit (99.1).

Kodak and Sony, Sony Ericsson Enter Into Technology Cross-License Agreements

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 3 -- Eastman Kodak Company (NYSE:EK) today announced that it has entered into a technology cross-license agreement with Sony Corporation that will allow each company broad access to the other's patent portfolio.

Kodak also announced that it has entered into a technology cross license with Sony Ericsson Mobile Communications AB that will allow Sony Ericsson access to Kodak technology for Sony Ericsson's products. Kodak will also have access to Sony Ericsson's technology.

The license agreements are royalty bearing to Kodak. Additional financial terms were not disclosed.

"We are pleased to have reached a mutually beneficial arrangement that advances the interests of the three companies," said Laura G. Quatela, Managing Director, Intellectual Property Transactions, and Vice President, Eastman Kodak Company. "These cross-license agreements give us broad access to the technology of Sony and Sony Ericsson, and validate the strength of Kodak's intellectual property portfolio."

Separately, the companies agreed to conclude their patent litigation, which involved a subset of their imaging technologies.
